

Exam – Head Protection PPE Overview

True (T) or False (F)

1. T F Hard hats and bump caps are interchangeable.
2. T F There is only one type of hard hat divided into four Classes.
3. T F Electricians must wear a special hard hat designed to prevent electrical shock and burns if contacted by exposed electrical conductors.
4. T F All hard hats may be worn in the reverse direction.
5. T F It is the employee's responsibility to inspect a hard hat prior to use to ensure it is in good condition.
6. T F A damaged hard hat should be discarded and replaced.
7. T F All hard hats may be painted or have stickers applied to them.
8. T F The employer must provide task appropriate head protection for use in accordance with its hazard assessment.

(Select the best answer)

9. Head hazards include:
 - A. Falling objects
 - B. Contact with exposed electrical circuits
 - C. Striking low overhead objects
 - D. All of the above
10. Hard hat and suspension markings should include which of the following?
 - A. Manufacturer's name or identifying mark
 - B. Type
 - C. Class
 - D. All of the above